

Help Them Find Their Homes.

These animals have wandered away from their official home states.

Draw a path that leads them back home.

The name of Kansas' official animal is the first name of a famous character from the Wild West: _____ Bill.

Honey and huckleberries are some of the favorite foods of Montana's animal.

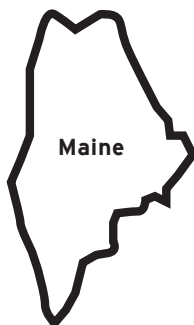

Oregon's official animal is an industrious critter who loves building things on rivers and ponds.

There's nothing "little" about what sits on the head of Colorado's nimble-footed mountain critter.

Tennessee's official animal seems to be hiding behind a permanent mask.

If the word "chocolate" were in front of the name of Maine's state animal, it would also sound like the name of a delicious dessert.

Kansas: Buffalo. Montana: Grizzly Bear. Oregon: Beaver. Colorado: Bighorn Sheep. Tennessee: Raccoon. Maine: Moose.
